“ Popop was the best grandfather I could of asked for. He taught me how to fish and I wish him and I could go fishing right now. I remember one time I caught a cat fish with a rope and he was so happy because he did not think it was possible, but I did it. I remember all the festivals and fairs we would go to, I will always remember the time me and my cousin dressed up his dog Morgan at the fair and won first place for best costume. I miss the big chair, and the hunting shows and the old movies we would watch. I miss you everyday. Love you popop.

“ Grandpop one of my greatest memories is when you were reading the paper and you found a fishing contest in our local areas and couldn't wait to tell Brooke and enter her in. You were always her biggest fan! And when she got upset because she wasn't catching anything you told her to be patient. And then all of the sudden she caught a fish and you and hers face lit up and how proud you were of her and how excited she was. When they came over the measure the fish she was in the game now. It wasn't until the end that we found out that she lost. But you always told her that she won! These kind of memories of all of us together I will forever keep in my heart and just remind me of how great of a grandfather you are. Whenever we go fishing I know you will be by our sides. For we are forever fishing partners forever. I love you and miss you more than you could ever know. Hugs and many kisses.
