Definitely one of the greatest impressions made on my life. Along with one of the greatest examples of what a man should be to his family. I had the pleasure of working for Evan for 10 years on and off and he always treated me with respect and love that you only get from a family member and he wasn't and that's what made him so special. Unfortunately he died on my birthday nov 21. May he Rest In Peace and forever be remembered for how charitable and loving he was.

“ One memory with Evan that was nice was my dad and I worked for Evan. My dad asked Evan to check on me while he was on vacation. I had a girl over of course when I wasn't supposed to. Evan pulled in the backyard with his truck to shoot guns and he saw the car parked behind the house, he said you got a girl up in there! 🙄 I said yeaaaaaa 😬 we shot guns he never told my dad. I figured I'd tell a less serious story because we all know how living Evan was and I could tell a million stories of things he gave materialistically but that's not what made you love Evan, he gave you the gift of love, and respect and God and that's more valuable than anything. It's been 2 years I know Evan's missed and I wish Lil Evan Gladys and Marialana all the best.

I remember Evan in High School; we were on the J.V. football team together and ate lunch together every day. I went to his house for dinner, and sometimes hung out with him and Dunmeyer and Schropp and Cooper down Mayo Road. He was truly one of the kindest, most authentic people I ever knew. Whenever I was down, Evan always cheered me up. He always had that "everything is okay" grin on his face, and I can see by these pictures, he never lost it. His personality was a rare, unselfish jewel -- definitely a guy you want in your corner. I missed him throughout the years and thought about him from time to time, wondered if he ever had a family, if he ever found love. Looks like he did all right. Nice goin, Evan. You were one of the good ones.
