“ I regret that I could not attend Mrs Dill's service because of a work conflict, but I would like to congratulate and commend all those who were the caregivers of this fine lady. I have never seen a more dedicated and committed group of family members in their attention to the needs and care of an elderly member. It was awesome to see how much she was loved by them. To those who gave so much to Mrs Dill, my prayer is for God to comfort and console them, with the certain knowledge she is in a far better place, beyond all pain and suffering, and that they did for her far beyond what could be expected. Thank you for the opportunity to participate in her care.
