“ I met Michele a few years ago via my design business. She was such a wonderful customer and I remember designing a few items for her; she absolutely loved the floral rose prints that I used in several of my bags. She was the inspiration for a new bag that we designed and such a strong supporter of my items.

I was thinking about her recently and her page just popped up on my Facebook friends list so I checked her page out; I had no idea that she had passed. I know she had a few medical struggles in the past few years, now she is in a much better place.

“ We met online gaming on FB, but over time we became more as just that. We often chatted via FB, MSN or even over phone. We shared the love for music and learned to appreciate or to know some we would have never known if it wasn't for our friendship. In her passing I lost a true overseas friend, with a warm and big hearted personality. She gone way too soon, but it comforts me she no longer has to deal with all health issues life thrown at her over the years. Sending strength for her family and friends having to deal with this tragic loss of an earthly angel. But I am sure she will be with all of you as a beautiful heavenly one now in all kind of big and small things she appreciated so much. Happy Birthday in heaven my friend...
